四、阅读理解

(A)

My name is Sam. I joined a club called “passing help” last month. Now let me tell you why I joined it.

One evening this May, on my way home my old car broken down. It was 25 miles from my home. I wanted to get a ride, but there was no car. It was also hard to take a taxi. I decided to take a bus home. I went to a bus stop nearby.

After a while, a bus came, but it did not go to my town. The bus driver was a young woman. She was kind and she told me which bus I should take. I waited there for about thirty minutes, but no bus came. At last a car came to me and a woman came out of the car. She was just the bus driver.

“When I reached the bus station, I got to know that the bus to your town couldn't come, so I returned here. I just can't leave you here,” she said, “Get in my car and I will take you back to your home.”

“It is a long way.” I said.

“Come on, sir,” she said, “Let's go.”

On the way she told me a story. A few days ago, there wasn't gas (汽油) in her car. An old man drove her up to a gas station and then back to her car.

When we got to my home, I wanted to give her some money to thank her, but she didn't accept her. “I only want to help others and do something nice for somebody. Pass it along.” She said.

41. What happened to Sam one evening in May?

- A. He lost his way. B. His car broken down.
C. He was hurt in an accident. D. He couldn't reach the gas station.

C. a bus driver D. a gas station worker

44. The young woman wanted Sam to _____.

- A. give her some money B. get on her bus
C. take her to her house D. help others just as she did

45. The best title of the passage is _____.

- A. A kind old man B. Getting a ride
C. Passing help D. A broken car

(B)

Jenny Gonzalez is excited to go to school these days. The 13-year-old girl from South Gate Middle School in Los Angeles, US, is taking care of three abalones at school.

The students of Violeta Llamas' science class, including Jenny, have cared for the sea animals since January. The class formed eight teams. Each team takes turns to care for the abalones. Team five—Jenny, Alexis Diaz, Jennifer Gonzalez and Ricardo Beltran—have now got their turn.

The abalones are kept in a box of seawater. Every day Alexis, 12, checks if the water has too much salt. Too much salt is bad for the health of abalones. Jenny makes fresh saltwater. Then the four students work together to clean up the waste in the box and feed the abalones.

“Sea life is like a baby. You have to clean them and care for them,” Jennifer said.

Nancy Caruso, a scientist, leads the project. She said the number of green abalones along the state's coast is going down because people have caught too many of them. She said protecting the sea is now up to the next generation(一代人)—young students.

The students love taking care of the abalones, said Llamas.

“This could open the door for them to want to be a sea life scientist or an environment protector,” she said.

The students’ time with the abalones will end this school year. Caruso and a team of volunteers will record the abalones and then release them into the sea.

46. Jenny Gonzalez is excited to go to school because _____.

- A. she loves science class
- B. she needs to take care of the sea animals
- C. she needs to make preparations for class
- D. she is the one who opens the door for class

47. According to the article, the abalones _____.

- A. have been kept in the box at school for eight days
- B. will go back to the sea after the school year
- C. are fed small fishes
- D. love the salt from the seawater

48. Jennifer thought sea life is like a baby, because _____.

- A. they are very lovely
- B. they can be human’s friends
- C. they can’t clean up their waste
- D. they need to be taken care of

49. The underlined word “them” in paragraph 5 refers to _____.

- A. young students
- B. the scientists
- C. green abalones
- D. sea life

50. With this experience, the students from the school may _____.

- A. keep abalones as their pets
- B. do some research about sea water
- C. catch some abalones
- D. show more interest in sea animals
