Part 3 Reading and Writing
(第三部分 读写)

VI. Reading comprehension (阅读理解): (共 50 分)

A. Choose the best answer（根据短文内容，选择最恰当的答案): (12 分)

Touch is one of the most important of our five senses. It is one of the first senses we develop. One of the most commonly accepted forms of touch among people is also one of the first experiences we have in the world---A hug!

There is no better way to understand the importance of hugs than to lose them. For those who have experienced the loss of hugs, you will know how important they are to share.

A recent research has shown that when people hug, the brain releases the chemical which increases our willingness to trust and reduces fear. It has also shown that hugs are great for your heart.

In 1995, a pair of newly born twins was being cared for in hospital. While one of the twins seemed quite healthy, her sister was not. After trying different medical treatments, the nurse on duty, Gayle Kasparian, placed the twins in bed together. The twins immediately snuggled (依偎) up to each other. As one placed her arm around the other, the weak baby became better gradually. How great the power of a hug is!

The need for hugs doesn't disappear as we grow older, though it seems we are less willing to give them. Research on people of all ages has proven that a hug is necessary for physical and emotional health.

Without hugs we can become sad. A hug provides safety and gentleness. A hug provides us with social contact, a sense of health and a feeling of importance and belonging.

69. The writer believes that _____.

A) touch is the most important sense B) hug is one of human's five senses
C) touch is the first developed sense D) hug is one of the forms of touch

71.A recent research has shown that _____.
A) hugs can release a kind of chemical B) hug is good for people's heart
C) hug increases people's fear D) hug reduces the feeling of trust

72. The story of the twins tells us _____.
A) twins should be placed in bed together B) the power of a hug is great
C) twins should be looked after together D) medical treatments are important

73. A hug provides all the following except _____.
A) a sense of social contact B) a sense of health
C) a sense of belonging D) a sense of power

74. The best title of the passage can be _____.
A) The great importance of Hugs B) The different ways of Hugs
C) The traditional cultures of Hugs D) The interesting stories of Hugs

B. Choose the words or expressions and complete the passage（选择最恰当的单词或词语完成短文): （12 分）

World Post Day is celebrated on October 9. This day is the date when the first postal union, the Universal Postal Union (UPU,万国邮联)，was started in 1874 in Bern, Switzerland.

Post is one of the oldest way of ___75___. The postal service is part of people's daily life all over the world. People send or ___76___letters and parcels through the postal service.

Did you know that China was one of the first countries to have a postal service? Experts disagree about the date, but it is likely that there was a system during the Qin Dynasty (221-207 BC).

___77___, some experts think that there may have been a postal system before then. In the Zhou Dynasty (1122-256 BC), Confucius(孔子) (551-479BC) said: "News of deeds travels faster than the mail."

Experts believe that the Chinese Postal Service has been in use for the longest amount of time in the world

Many students collect stamps for a ___78___. This, according to UPU, helps young people to learn about the world.

"The ___79___way to learn about a country is probably through stamp collecting," says Anthony Alverno, a UPU official.

Through stamp collecting you can ___80___in time to hundreds of years ago or go into outer space. You can meet famous people, or learn about places and animals from around the world.

"It does not cost a lot of money and most of all it is full of fun," says Alverno.

World Post Day is celebrated in many ways. Postal service in many countries use this day to have stamp exhibitions and use special stamps.

C. Read the passage and fill in the blanks with proper words（在短文的空格内填入适当的单词，使其内容通顺，每空格限填一词，首字母已给):（14 分）

Today, it is a big problem for young graduates to get good jobs. It is said that there are thousands of different kinds of jobs in the world. Choosing the right one is not that easy.

"Finding a job" is not the same as "choosing a job". Many young people end up in a job, but they are not suitable for it. Sometimes a "c__81__" may play a more important part than a "decision".

Here are a few steps to help you think about jobs which you might enjoy after school or university. First it is important to r__82__ what kind of person you are, which special qualities make you outstanding and w__83__ you are interested in. There is a different between an interest and a skill. If you like art and enjoy looking at pictures, that is an interest. But if you can draw a horse that looks like a horse not a big dog, that is a skill. Then ask y__84__ a question," In the f__85__ areas---skills with information and skills with things, which are your best skills?" A__86__ examining your skills, the next step is research. To find about as many different kinds of jobs as p__87__, go to the library and read books, magazines and newspapers for information. Ask your friends what they think of the work they do. Finally, trust your own ideas and your own thinking! It is your own life, just find the job you really enjoy doing.

D. Answer the questions（根据短文内容回答下列问题) (第 88 题 1 分；第 89—92 题每小题 2 分；第 93 题 3 分): (共 12 分)

During summer vacations, I would volunteer at the vet's, so I'd seen a lot of dogs. Minnie was by far the funniest-looking dog I'd ever seen. Thin curly hair barely covered her sausage-shaped body. Her big eyes always looked surprised. And her tail looked like a rat's.

She was brought to the vet to be put to sleep because her owners didn't want her anymore. But I thought Minnie had a sweet personality. "No one should judge her by her looks," I thought. So instead of putting her to sleep, the vet gave her the chance to be adopted(收养)by someone else. I advertised Minnie in the local paper: "Funny-looking dog, well behaved, needs a loving family."

When a young man called, I warned him that Minnie was strange looking. The boy on the phone told me that his grandfather's 16-year-old dog had just died. They wanted Minnie no matter what it looked like. I gave Minnie a good bath. Then we waited for them to arrive.

At last, an old car drove up in front of the vet's. Two kids ran to the door. They took Minnie to their grandfather, who was waiting in the car. I hurried behind them to see his reaction to Minnie.

The grandfather carried Minnie in his arms and touched her soft hair. She licked(舔)his face. It was love at first lick.

"She's perfect!" the old man said excitedly.

I was thankful that Minnie had found the good home that she deserved.

That's when I saw that the grandfather's eyes were a milky white color---he was blind.

When standing in the central areas in Tokyo, you can see many girls wearing school uniforms. Many of these young women have already graduated. If you ask them why they still wear the uniforms, you may get such an answer: a school uniform is our favorite clothing.

So, why do Japanese girls love school uniforms so much? The first reason may be their fashionable design and good quality. The style of Japanese school uniforms for girls is adapted from sailor suits. The color and design of the uniform fits Japanese girls' skin and body figure. Every five years, the style will change a little to keep up with the trend(赶上潮流）. Different from Chinese school uniforms, school uniforms in Japan are well-made and thus expensive. A complete school uniform can cost about 3000yuan. It is designed by a name brand, made with good cloth and produced by a good manufacturer.

The second reason may be its convenience. In Japan, most schools have strict rules. Though students are allowed to wear their own clothes to school, their clothing has to fit their identity as a student: they can't wear clothes that are too bright, too expensive or too revealing; they can't wear high heels and they have to wear the school badge（校徽）. For these reasons, a school uniform can be the safest choice.

Another important reason may be the sense of team in Japanese culture. School girls wear uniform so that they won't be isolated(孤立）.
